LADIES' SHIRT WAIST.

Paris Pattern No. 3227. All Seams Allowed.—The double-plait "Gibson" shirt waist is one of the favorite models of this spring. When it closes at the back, as does the one here shown, it offers fine possibilities for decoration with braiding or hand embroidery. This particular design supplies two styles of sleeves, bishop ones of medium fullness completed with gauntlet cuffs, and close-fitting ones; both being in wrist length. Only single plaits appear at the back. Linen, duck, madras, crash, lawn, cotton, poplin, tuss' veiling or summer silk may also be used. The pattern is in five sizes, 34 to 42 inches bust measure. For 36 bust the shirt waist requires 2 1/2 yards of material 36 inches wide.

BLAZE AT COLUMBUS.

Our neighboring river city of Columbus had a big blaze Wednesday night. The old frame building on the north side of Roan street near the river bank was the dry tinder that fed the flames. It is not certain whether the flames started in Tom Jordan's printing office or Thompson's shop, both of which were in the building. When first discovered, the fire had gained such headway that nothing could be done to save the building.

The old building which was destroyed was built in the summer of 1870 by the late Dr. J. M. Jackson, soon after the destructive fire which swept away the business district of Columbus, then located on Front street.
The building was owned by B. T.
Thompson, who had his blacksmith and machine shops in the west end of it, while Tom Jordan occupied one room, and W. W. Yarrington had a shoe shop in the other. The loss falls heavily on Mr. Thompson, as he had a well-equipped plant and carried no insurance. His loss is estimated at from $1500 to $2000.

Tom Jordan carried $600 insurance on his printing office. We have not learned whether he intends to buy another plant, but likely he will not,
as the paper had only been issued one time, after a suspension of several weeks.

AFTER - THOUGHTS

On Many Different Subjects

With a blinding flash and a crash that shook all houses for miles around a meteor fell at Arat, S. C., one night last week, frightening the people for miles around so badly that until morning no one dared to investigate the cause of the disturbance. On visiting the place in the morning a hole about 60 feet deep was found in the ground and excavation has begun in search of the meteor. The shock wrecked one house and jarred many others.

being done in many of the large

"AS A MAN EATS SO HE THINKS."

While "the mind is the measure of the man" always, the body is the measure of the mind, too. They are reciprocal.
It cannot be denied, even by the most enthusiastic advocates of the proposition, "mind is all,"
that a broken arm or a disordered liver interferes with mental action. That the body rules the mind, in this stage of existence, is just as true as that the mind rules the body. The importance of right mental attitude is not underestimated by saying that physical development determines spiritual manifestation. Even Ole Bull could not produce Stradivarian music on a one-stringed fiddle. The body is built from blood and that is made from food. The best material will not make a good house without good builders, working intelligently, skillfully, according to a plan, wisely designed by a skillful architect. The material must be on hand when needed and all must work harmoniously. To eat right is no less important than to think right, for true as it is that as a man thinks so he becomes, it is equally true that as a man eats so he thinks.

All carbonated beverages are better and more wholesome than non-

One of these Courier's good friends thinks we are wrong in endorsing the Fiscal Court and other citizens in the new gravel road movement for Fulton county. He objects to the plan as outlined because he does not live on the road to be graveled and will be forced to pay his share of the tax to be levied for road work.
He thinks it is "class legislation," and says the proposition will be fought by a number who oppose it.
Let this be as it may, the Courier believes in good roads. It is impossible however to give everybody good roads at the same time, and we believe the present plan will do the most good for the greatest majority of citizens of the county. As the county is bearing only about half of the expense, the taxpayer should not have a very big kick coming. Building the gravel roads will be in a measure like building the courthouse.
It is told that a certain good citizen of the county, who was opposed to building the courthouse, came in one day to pay his taxes. While at the court house he asked Judge Kearby when he was going to put on the tax to pay for the blamed court house.
His feathers fell when the judge answered—"You fool, the court house is already paid for—every cent of it."
The man didn't know that he paid his part of it, but was greatly opposed to the increase of taxes for that purpose. The gravel roads tax will work out about the same way.

SENATOR LA FOLLETTE SAYS MORGAN IS A RED-FACED BULLY.

Declares Mellen and Byrnes Are Not Megaphones Repeating Morgan's Orders.

Washington.—Incidental to the consideration of the administration railroad bill, the merger of the Boston and Maine railroad with the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, through the railroad holding law, enacted by the Massachusetts legislature in 1909, was discussed at length in the senate Monday.

The principal speech, attacking the consolidation in unstinted language, was made by Senator La Follette and consumed the larger part of the day's session.

Mr. La Follette practically charged that the enactment had been consummated as the result of the dictation of President Mellen, of the New Haven road, who, he intimated, represented the Morgan-Rockefeller interests. He quoted from a member of the Massachusetts legislature a statement to the effect that Governor Draper has disposed to an ultimatum from the New Haven interests. He undertook to show that the federal merger suit, which had been instituted during the Roosevelt administration had been dismissed at the dictation of Attorney-General Wickersham, under the Taft administration, for the inadequate reason that the Massachusetts legislature had passed the holding bill under which the consolidation was effected.

"Think of it," Mr. La Follette shouted. "This great case, involving the transportation of New England and all the people of the country engaged in trade with New England, after eleven months of preparation and successful prosecution on the part of the government, reached a stage where the defendants are compelled to take the stand and make their showing, and then, like a thunderbolt from a clear sky, comes the order from Washington: 'Dismiss the government's case.'"

Mr. La Follette asserted at the behest of the New Haven Company that Massachusetts had undertaken to repeal a federal law and license an act which congress had declared to be a crime against the people.

"And," he said, "the attorney-general, the highest law officer of the federal government, sworn to preserve, protect and defend the constitution and enforce the laws of congress, gives his official approval of this legislative compact between the New Haven Company and the Massachusetts legislature to nullify the law of congress, and declares that it expressly authorizes what congress has expressly forbidden."

"If the door of the federal court may thus be closed in the face of a wronged and outraged public by the attorney-general of the United States, then the law becomes a black art and justice a mere juggler's pawn."

Speaking of President Mellen and Vice President Byrnes of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, Senator La Follette said:

"The mask is off. We have all of us done injustice to Mr. Mellen—gross injustice. Nor is Mr. Byrnes, in his private capacity or in any capacity except as a corporation employee, the truculent braggart that he seems in the press reports of the railroad hearings."

"Both of these men and others of their kind are but hired megaphones through which a beefy, red-faced, thick-necked financial bully, drunk with wealth and power, bawls his orders to stock markets, directors, courts, governments and nations."

"We have been listening to Mr. Morgan."

PINCHOT SEES ROOSEVELT

Former Forester Completes Case Against Ballinger.

Porto Maurizio.—Gifford Pinchot, former chief forester of the United States department of agriculture, was again with former President Roosevelt Monday.

Despite the reticence of both men, it is accepted as a matter of course that Mr. Roosevelt is in possession now of Pinchot's complete case against Secretary Ballinger's conservation policy and of what has been described here as an "alleged reactionary tendency" in forestry matters of the administration of President Taft.

Most significant was the announcement made at the end of Pinchot's visit today that Mr. Roosevelt had accepted an invitation from the former chief forester to address the national conservation congress late this summer at a time and place to be fixed.

Farm Hand a Miser.

Amarillo, Tex.—With a bank account of $250,000 and owning several blue grass farms, William M. Gold, who has worked on a farm near here for his board, is dead. The remains have been shipped to Benton, Ky., for interment. Gold had lived in the panhandle country for several years and though he has loaned money, people thought he was a man of small means. Since his death it has developed that he had deposits of a quarter of a million dollars.

BUILD 2 BATTLESHIPS

43 DEMOCRATS VOTE FOR AND 21 REPUBLICANS AGAINST.

Naval Bill Carries $128,037,602, or $3,000,000 Less Than Asked—Hobson Wanted Three Battleships.

Washington.—By a decisive vote of 182 to 110, the house Friday authorized the construction of two battleships to cost $6,000,000 each. Thirty-three Democrats voted for two battleships and twenty-four Republicans against the proposition. This action was taken just prior to the passage of the naval appropriation bill, carrying $128,037,602. This amount is about $3,000,000 less than was recommended by the navy department. In addition to the battleships, the bill also provides for the construction of two fleet colliers and four submarine boats.

As amended on motion of Mr. Fitzgerald of New York, the two battleships and two fleet colliers must be constructed by firms operating under the eight-hour law.

The committee on naval affairs had reported in favor of authorizing two battleships. Mr. Tawney of Minnesota, chairman of the appropriations committee, offered an amendment providing for only one battleship, while Mr. Hobson proposed an amendment providing for three. Mr. Hobson contended that three battleships would give no increase, but would provide only for the ordinary depreciation in the naval force. By an almost unanimous vote the house rejected this proposition.

TOSS FLOWERS AT THEODORE

Greatest Day at Porto Maurizio Since Augustus' Time.

Porto Maurizio, Italy.—Ex-President Roosevelt Sunday opened the new boulevard, which has been named after him, and accepted honorary citizenship of the ancient and historic city of Porto Maurizio. According to those who have long memories, never before have local, political, religious and all other differences been so completely obliterated as upon this occasion.

The carriage containing Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt and the mayor was pelted with nosegays tied with ribbons bearing the words "Long Live Roosevelt," as they traversed the cheering town, until it was overflowing with flowers.

A stone, bearing the name of the street, "Viale Theodore Roosevelt," was then unveiled and Mr. Roosevelt broke the flower chain which was stretched across the driveway and amid a new outburst of "vivas" led Mrs. Roosevelt up the drive to the hotel. There the mayor, in a flattering speech, told how proud the municipality was to confer citizenship upon the great "Apostle of Peace."

PULLMAN RATES REDUCED

Commerce Commission Will Have Thanks of People.

Washington.—The interstate commerce commission in a decision holds it to be "unjust and unreasonable" for the Pullman Company to charge equally for the upper and lower berths in its sleeping cars. Differential charges are ordered in several instances and Pullman rates from Chicago to the Pacific coast are ordered reduced.

The commission ruled that the present Pullman rate of $12 from St. Paul to the Pacific coast was too high and ordered it reduced to $10. The present rate of $12 for an upper berth is ordered reduced to $8.50.

A short night's journey, the commission holds, should not carry a rate of more than $1.50 for a lower berth and $1.10 for an upper. The rate of $2 which the company has maintained from St. Paul to Fargo, N. D., 242 miles, is ordered reduced accordingly.

Macon After Reunion.

Macon, Ga.—Confederate Veterans, the Chamber of Commerce and the city council will make an organized effort to secure the general Confederate reunion of 1911 for Macon. Delegations from these bodies will be at the Mobile reunion this month to extend the invitation. The general reunion has never been held but one time in Georgia, when the veterans met in Atlanta in 1898.

Taft Gets Even Break.

Cambridge, Mass.—With two blanks cast, 300 members of the Harvard Law School broke even in a straw vote cast under the supervision of the Harvard Political Club on the question:

"Resolved, That the record of the present administration for the past year would not justify the re-election of President Taft."

The vote stood 149 to 149. Divided by parties, it was as follows: Republicans for Taft 120, against 59; Democrats for Taft 9, against 65.

CANNON DEFIES HOUSE KILLED LEAVING PULPIT

WILL HOLD CHAIR UNLESS INSURGENTS JOIN DEMOCRATS.

Auto Is Not Allowed Him—Mann Brands Action of the House as Child's Play.

Washington.—Speaker Cannon again showed his teeth in anger and defiance to the house when a combination of "insurgents" and Democrats defeated the provision in the legislative bill appropriating $2,500 for the maintenance of the speaker's automobile. When the vote of 111 to 132 was announced, the speaker took the floor and defied the "insurgents" to depose him from the chair.

With a resounding whack on the table he declared "Unless the Republicans who do not approve of the personality of their speaker have the courage to join the solid minority, I remain speaker until March 4 next."

Mr. Sims of Tennessee was among the leaders in opposing the appropriations for automobiles for the speaker and the vice president, declaring it cost $20 daily to bring the speaker or the vice president to the capitol.

With intense interest the roll call was listened to, in order to determine how the insurgents were voting, as it was realized their attitude would settle the outcome. The result was soon foreseen, and the announcement provoked assent on the Democratic side.

Then Mr. Mann of Illinois arose and in sarcastic tones declared that "this is mere child's play."

"If this is Democratic leadership," Mr. Mann added, "I hope to be delivered from it in the future."

"You will," came from a score of Democratic members.

Minority Leader Champ Clark gave the house a statement of his purpose to work for economy, whether that was denominated "child's play" or anything else.

"If we ever get possession of the government," he said, addressing his Democratic colleagues, "I propose to make good Senator Aldrich's declaration that this government can be run for $300,000,000 less per year than it now costs."

LAND FOR MANEUVERS

Representative Byrnes Has Bill Authorizing Federal Acceptance.

Washington.—A resolution introduced by Representative Byrnes of Tennessee authorizes the secretary of war to accept for the government the donation of land in the department of the gulf to be used for maneuvering grounds. The states composing the department of the gulf and named in the resolution are Tennessee, Kentucky, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, Florida and the Carolinas. The resolution is significant. Mr. Byrnes declined to discuss in detail at present, but there are some reasons to believe Tennessee parties plan to donate to the government land to be used as maneuvering grounds and suitable for target practice.

GAMBLER THAW'S MONEY

This Is What Prisoner Charges Against Hartridge.

New York.—Harry K. Thaw, looking pale and nervous, took the witness stand Monday in the trial of the suit brought by Clifford W. Hartridge against Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw for $93,000 for legal services. Thaw gave his testimony in an indistinct and disconnected manner.

He said he never had authorized Mr. Hartridge to spend money on women in order to silence them. Up to December, 1906, Thaw said he paid $37,000 to Mr. Hartridge.

Thaw said: "In October, 1906, I heard that Hartridge was gambling with my money and had lost $11,000 at roulette."

Protest on Butter Price.

Elgin, Ill.—The price of butter at 32 cents a pound, as fixed by the quotation committee of the Elgin Board of Trade, was forced down to 31 cents Monday. The lower price is said to have been caused by the voting of fifteen Chicago commission men, all members of the board, who went to Elgin to protest against the 32-cent rate.

12,000 Are Starving.

New York.—That 12,000 persons are starving in Armenia, is the statement made in a telegram received by the American Relief Association.

FANATIC SHOTS EDITOR ASSASSIN MAKES ESCAPE

Victim Was in Act of Shaking Assassin's Hand When Killed—Congregation Fled to Shelter.

Pittsburg, Pa.—A sermon on martyrdom, in which Frank Skala, an editor and prominent mission worker, had declared himself willing to lay down his life for the Christian cause, was followed by his assassination in a highly sensational manner and by the shooting down also of a fellow church leader, John Gay.

Arm in arm, the two missionaries were leaving the little Congregational church in Woods Run, a suburb. A raggedly dressed and collarless man poked his way through the crowd, and when he was but a step behind the leaders he pressed a revolver to Skala's head and fired twice. Skala fell dead. Gay, who threw up his right hand as if to ward off the weapon, was struck in the thumb and a second bullet was buried in his head. He fell unconscious across the body of his colleague.

For a moment—for several moments—the assassin stood over his prey in amazement at his deed, flourishing his revolver while the panic-stricken crowd fled to shelter.

The madman was Jan Radowitch, a character known to most of the mission for his shiftless habits, slovenly dress and radical opinions. A moment before he had meekly read from juvenile leaflets in the Sunday school led by Skala; previously he had sat in a back pew of the church during the regular sermon, and at the commencement of the services Skala had shaken his hand in greeting.

The church people were too frightened to grab the assassin, and after flourishing his weapon and stamping his foot on the bodies, he made off down the railroad tracks and disappeared.

None of the church workers believe there was any method in Radowitch's madness. He was a man who had lived at the Salvation Army barracks and as a charitable parasite elsewhere, but was always at variance with the teachings of his Christian leaders. It is doubtful if he had ever seen Skala before today.

FEARED HARM TO ROOSEVELT

Fanatic Arrested, but No Weapons Were Found on Him.

Porto Maurizio, Italy.—The Italian secret service police, who are guarding Miss Carew's villa, where the Roosevelts are stopping, arrested an Italian named Magagnoli, who, upon the pretext that he was carrying a letter from a correspondent, endeavored to force his way into the villa.

The man was searched, but no weapons were found on him. Immediately wild rumors were spread in Porto Maurizio that the prisoner had followed Colonel Roosevelt from Naples with no friendly intentions.

Magagnoli explained that he desired to have audience with Roosevelt in order to get a job as valet when he became president again. A letter written in English found on Magagnoli bears out this statement. The police then wired to Bologna to ascertain if the man has a police record. They believe he is a harmless crank similar to those who annoy Mr. Roosevelt during his tenancy of the White House.

Chicago Loans Scaffold.

Chicago.—Chicago loaned to Rockford, Ill., a scaffold which was built a quarter of a century ago and on which forty-one persons have expiated their crimes, including the elder Mayor Harrison's assassin, the Haymarket anarchists and the car barn bandits. The scaffold will be used at Rockford for the execution of Clinton St. Clair.

Bull Brought $10,000.

Aurora, Ill.—One shorthorn bull brought $10,000 in cold cash at the sale of Thomas Stanton's blooded herd of cattle at William George's Brookline farm near here Saturday. The bull is now three years old. The animal that brought the record-breaking price yesterday was bought in Scotland last year by Stanton for $3,000. He is of the low to the ground type, standing but 13 hands. Every inch of the great animal is bone and sinew, he weighing over a ton. His last time on the scales he tipped 2,300 pounds.

The Large Way.

Appropos of J. Pierpont Morgan's immense resources, as shown in his recent proffer of $100,000,000 wherewith to build more New York subways, a broker said:

"Mr. Morgan's wealth causes him to look at money in a large way. Once, at the Metropolitan club in Fifth avenue, I told him of the death of a mutual friend.

"How much did he leave?" Mr. Morgan asked.

"A matter of five or six millions, I believe," said I.

"Mr. Morgan's eyebrows lifted.

"How deceptive circumstances sometimes are," he said. "I always supposed him quite comfortably off."

His Views on Suffrage.

When a female tanyasser asked an old farmer to sign a petition in favor of a woman's movement he eyed the document for awhile with suspicion.

"No, I'm again it, sure," was the reply, with the emphasis of a man who had had some domestic infelicity. "A woman who's allus a-movin' is allus a gettin' in trouble. If you've got anything to say to keep her quiet I'll sign it."

ABANDONED IT

For the Old Fashioned Coffee Was Killing.

"I always drank coffee with the rest of the family, for it seemed as if there was nothing for breakfast if we did not have it on the table.

"I had been troubled some time with my heart, which did not feel right. This trouble grew worse steadily.

"Sometimes it would beat fast and at other times very slowly, so that I would hardly be able to do work for an hour or two after breakfast, and if I walked up a hill, it gave me a severe pain.

"I had no idea of what the trouble was until a friend suggested that perhaps it might be caused by coffee drinking. I tried leaving off the coffee and began drinking Postum. The change came quickly. I am now glad to say that I am entirely well of the heart trouble and attribute the relief to leaving off coffee and the use of Postum.

"A number of my friends have abandoned the old fashioned coffee and have taken up with Postum, which they are using steadily. There are some people that make Postum very weak and tasteless, but if it is boiled long enough, according to directions, it is a very delicious beverage. We have never used any of the old fashioned coffee since Postum was first started in our house."

Most Important News Gathered from All Parts of the State.

JETT IS CHRISTIANIZED

And Would Regain His Freedom to Be a Missionary in Mountains.

Frankfort, Ky.—Alleging that he has become thoroughly Christianized and desiring an opportunity to return to the mountains of Eastern Kentucky as a missionary, Curtiss Jett, the murderer of James B. Marcum and James Cockrell, serving two life sentences in the penitentiary for these crimes, made petition to the prison commission for a parole. The petition was presented by C. R. Hudson, pastor of the Christian church; Thomas White's mother also made a petition for the parole of this noted prisoner. White and Jett were both sent to the penitentiary for life for the murder of Marcum, and Jett was afterward given another life sentence for the murder of Cockrell. Jett has exerted a wonderful influence within the prison and is now studiously endeavoring to convert his cousin, Beach Hargis, who was sent to the penitentiary for murdering his father, James Hargis.

RACING COMMISSION

Has Been Appointed by Gov. Willson At Last.

Frankfort, Ky.—Gov. Willson has appointed the Kentucky racing commission that will serve for the next four years. The commissioners follow: Col. E. F. Clay, Paris; Johnson N. Camden, Versailles; George A. Long, Louisville; Maj. Foxhall A. Dargfield, Lexington; and Col. Milton H. Young, Lexington. Of the commission Col. Young and Col. Clay are re-appointed. The commission meets in Lexington in a few days for the purpose of electing a chairman and secretary. Under the law Gov. Willson is required to appoint three breeders of thoroughbreds, but the members of the commission are all breeders, and are the best-known breeders in the United States. W. E. Bridwell is tipped as the next secretary of the commission.

GRANTED A REPRIEVE.

Wild Ride of Horseman to Reach Whitesburg in Time.

Frankfort, Ky.—With all the speed that a horseman can urge out of his steed, a messenger traveled across the mountains of Letcher county from Sergeant to Whitesburg and conveyed the information that Gov. Willson had granted Floyd Frazier a reprieve until May 19, in order that he may investigate his application for a commutation of life sentence more carefully. Whitesburg is in the heart of the Kentucky mountains, many miles from a railroad station.

Lancaster, Ky.—Garrett Wood, a well-known farmer, was killed on his farm near town by a year-old hornless bull. Mr. Wood had gone out to feed his stock when the animal attacked him, butting him down and mauling him with his hoofs. His little girl was with him and ran to the house for assistance, but he was breathing his last when help reached him. Mr. Wood was 50 years old and leaves a widow and seven children, among whom is Mr. Charles Wood, of the Denhard Concrete Co., of Cincinnati.

Louisville, Ky.—Judge Alex. Humphrey, representing the Louisville Railway Co., will ask in the federal court the discharge of the receiver for the Louisville & Eastern railway, the last outstanding claim against the company having been satisfied. As soon as the receiver has been discharged the $20,000,000 blanket mortgage will be put on record.

Frankfort, Ky.—Auditor Frank P. James soon will turn loose on the state a vast army of revenue agents who will scour the counties for bootleggers and blind tigers. He will demand taxes of them for selling the liquor, and they must pay or their names will be presented to the grand jury, and if indicted Auditor James will aid in prosecuting every offender.

Frankfort, Ky.—The dedication of the new capitol will very likely be held on June 2. The capitol commission discussed the matter. The speakers will be Senator W. O. Bradley, Gov. Willson and former Gov. Beckham. An extra large force will be put to work to complete the grounds for the dedication.

Aurora, Ind.—A quarrel over a small loan led to the killing of Arthur Murphy, aged 21, by Thomas Owens, aged 18, both of Delphi, Ky. Owens, who claims self-defense, is held for murder, and the dead man's brother, Jim Murphy, is held as witness. The two came here to look for work, and roomed together.

Mt. Sterling, Ky.—The city council has offered a reward of $200, to which E. T. Reis has added $200, for the arrest and conviction of the parties who burned the building belonging to Reis.

WILL GO THE LIMIT.

Legislature Investigation To Be Thorough and Complete.

Frankfort, Ky.—All of the time necessary to investigate the alleged bribery charges made by Senator Jeff Watkins during the session of legislature in this city, will be given to the grand jury now in session here. This statement was made by Circuit Judge R. L. Stout when the question was asked him how far the grand jury would go into the investigation. Every statement that was made by the representatives and senators and lobbyists during the session, every publication in the newspapers, will be investigated, and it is understood that the investigation will take up the entire month of April. Commonwealth's Attorney Franklin has been one of the most fearless prosecutors in the state in the past, and knowing this, the lobbyists are said to be worried. Senator Prichard, of Ashland, who is said to have been given valuable information during the session, is to be summoned before the grand jury.

THREE PARDONS GRANTED.

Gov. Willson Refused Clemency to Seven Other Offenders.

Frankfort, Ky.—Gov. Willson granted pardons to Wood Pollard, sentenced to pay a fine of $50 for pointing firearms, Caldwell county; Lloyd Cornett, Harlan county, sentenced to three years for bigamy, and Isaiah Wiley, of Lawrence, convicted of illegal voting.

CONSTRUCTION ON STATUTE.

State Treasurer Asks Attorney General for an Opinion.

Frankfort, Ky.—On account of a possible misconstruction of the statute allowing the issue of interest-bearing warrants, Capt. Ed Farley, state treasurer, has written to Judge James Breathitt, attorney general, asking an opinion and construction of the act. The act says that warrants for the common schools and the state university shall not bear interest, but Capt. Farley wants to know if this restriction applies to warrants for appropriations made to the state university and the normal school. He also wants to know if warrants for appropriations made for any other purpose shall bear interest, as for instance, in the case of the Kentucky Children's Home society, which has an annual appropriation.

Frankfort, Ky.—Clay Lawson, of Wolfe county, serving two years' sentence for killing his cousin, W. P. Lawson, was paroled by the board of prison commissioners. He has served eight months of his term.

Frankfort, Ky.—J. W. Carter, sheriff of Union county, was ordered by Circuit Judge R. L. Stout to appear before the Franklin county court and show cause why he is not in contempt of court for not serving a subpoena on Senator J. J. Watkins, of Sturgis, to appear before the grand jury.

PATTERSON PARDONS COOPER

Promptly Freed by the Governor After His Case Had Been Affirmed by the Supreme Court of Tennessee—Robin Cooper Gets New Trial

Nashville, Tenn.—In the case of Col. Duncan B. Cooper and Robin J. Cooper, father and son, convicted of killing former United States Senator E. W. Carmack on the streets here, Nov. 9, 1908, and sentenced to twenty years each in the state penitentiary, the Tennessee supreme court Wednesday morning, by a divided vote, affirmed the sentence as to D. B. Cooper. As to Robin Cooper the case, also by a divided vote, is reversed and remanded to the lower court for a new trial. While Chief Justice Beard was reading a dissenting opinion in the case of Duncan B. Cooper, Governor Patterson wrote a full pardon for the defendant, in which he declares:

"Being thoroughly familiar with the record, having read all the testimony and testified to certain facts within my personal knowledge, it is neither desirable nor necessary to delay action for petition to be presented, asking executive clemency.

"In my opinion, neither of the defendants is guilty and they have not had a fair and impartial trial, but were convicted contrary to the law and evidence. The action of the supreme court in vacating the judgment as to Robin Cooper, leaves the sentence of final conviction as to his co-defendant. The proof showed that Robin Cooper killed the deceased and that D. B. Cooper did not fire a shot. Without reflection upon the court, it is inconceivable to my mind and repugnant to every principle of justice that a man should be found guilty of murder who was not in a conspiracy to kill, and who, in fact, did not kill."

The reversal in the case of Robin Cooper is based on assignments of error in the trial judge's failing to charge separately as to Robin Cooper's theory of self-defense, linking the defense of the defendants together, excluding testimony of Governor Patterson as to talks with the defendant, Robin Cooper, and advice given him as to Colonel Cooper before the tragedy, and the admission of cross-examination of Robin Cooper as to intent of certain state witnesses in testifying as to certain incidents.

Wanted Robin's Vindication.
Colonel Cooper was still at the capitol when the pardon was entered in the secretary of state's office. He was at once surrounded by a crowd of friends seeking to congratulate him.

"I wanted Robin's vindication more than I wanted a pardon," was his smiling remark when told of the governor's action in behalf of himself. Leaving the crowds gathered about him, he entered a carriage with his daughter, Mrs. Lucius E. Burch, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. James C. Bradford, and accompanied by Marshal Robert Marshall, was driven to the county jail, where formalities in connection with the pardon were gone through with and he was released. He reached the jail at 2:20 p. m., leaving there about 2:30.

Robin Cooper is under a $25,000 bond. His friends freely predict that he will not again be arraigned for trial. Should he be, it would be a most difficult undertaking to secure a jury in Davidson county under the law's requirements.

Courtroom Was Packed.

The opinions were read before a courtroom packed to suffocation, the corridors being crowded with those unable to gain entrance. Every word was listened to with breathless interest, and the scene was a memorable one. It marked an epoch in not only the legal annals of the state, but the political as well. The Democratic party of Tennessee has been rent into bitter factions over the prohibition question, and as a wheel within a wheel, "the Cooper case" has played a conspicuous part. Cooper is the close friend and alleged political adviser of Patterson, who is the leader of the anti-prohibition forces in Tennessee. Carmack was the chief of the prohibition movement. Patterson was a most important witness for the defense at the trial of the Coopers for the killing of Carmack, whose death his friends allege was the outcome of political machination. Now, on the verge of an election of the judiciary, the supreme court was called on to pass finally on the case over which it seems the party factions have actually aligned themselves on one side or the other. For sixty-nine days the court has had the case, and the state has been on the tiptoe of expectancy as the opinion days came and went without its being referred to.

The announcement at last shows an interesting status to those familiar with the intricacies of the political situation. Chief Justice Beard and Justices McAlister and Bell reverse the case as to Robin Cooper, Justices Neil and Shields dissenting.

Justices Shields, McAlister and Neil confirm as to Colonel Cooper, Chief Justice Beard and Justice Bell dissenting. The supreme court was more widely divided than it ever was before. Two of the most elaborate opinions ever rendered were handed down, and neither one of them, strange to say, actually accomplished the result intended by the opinion itself or the justice who wrote it.

SEEK MORE PENSIONS.

Bill Would Grant Retired Pay and Larger Sums.
Washington.—A pension bill to grant to all surviving volunteer officers of the United States army, who served six months or more, retired pay according to length of service, and to all honorably discharged enlisted men over 70 and suffering a certain degree of disability a straight pension of $30 per month, was reported to the house from the committee on military affairs.

Chief Justice Beard read an opinion covering 65 typewritten pages. This opinion reversed the judgment of the court below as to both defendants. In it Justice B. D. Bell concurred.

Upon the shoulders of Justice W. K. McAlister rested the responsibility of actually deciding the case. He concurred with neither opinion in toto. Upon the twenty-two assignments of error, he concurred with Justices Shields and Neil in the majority of them, but differed with them as to all of those affecting Robin Cooper exclusively.

As a result of this wide division of the court on this case, the opinion of the court was not handed down for the first time in the history of the jurisprudence of the state. The opinion of Justice Shields is not the opinion of the court, nor is the opinion of Justice Beard the opinion of the court, but a part of each taken together forms the actual decision that goes into effect.

Nashville Excited.

The news created more excitement and more widespread discussion probably than any event in the history of the city. The telegraph and telephone offices were besieged not only by representatives of out of town newspapers, but by hundreds of private messages to friends all over the state and in adjoining states.

The pardon was not unexpected. From Governor Patterson's testimony in the court below there could remain no doubt as to his personal conviction of the innocence of the defendants. Such being the case there was never any doubt in the public mind that he would grant a pardon to both defendants should the supreme court affirm the sentence. But while this action did not come as a surprise, it created all of the interest and all of the wild excitement that a totally unexpected denouement to the whole series of events could have done.

Political Results.

As to the result politically in Tennessee of the state supreme court's decision in the Cooper case and the pardon of Colonel D. B. Cooper by Governor Patterson, opinion seems general that the old factional lines—Patterson and anti-Patterson, the latter representing the prohibition or state-wide element of the state Democracy—are unchanged. In fact, they are more taut if that be possible. The governor's friends claim that his action has served to cement more closely than ever his following—that it has given them a rallying cry to battle. On the other hand, it has embittered to even intenser degree the hostility to him on the part of his political enemies. Carmack was the leader and idol of the state-wide. His friends, charging that his killing was the outcome of a political scheme, made it the chief issue against Patterson, and the Cooper case has colored the entire political atmosphere of Tennessee.

A governor and state judiciary are soon to be elected. The state Democratic committee, dominated by Patterson men, recently called a blanket primary for June 4 to make nominations. Enemies of Patterson freely charged the inclusion of the judiciary was an attempt to wield a club over the supreme court, which had the Cooper case under advisement, and every member of which was a candidate for reelection. Matters were complicated by the refusal of Chief Justice Beard and Justices Shields and Neil to enter the primary. They will run independently, and now that their attitude on the "cause celebre" is known, the question is what will the alignment be?

It is most complex, if the attitude of individual members of the court is to be taken into the analysis. Meanwhile Patterson, serving his second term as governor, has not said if he is a candidate for a third term. Many of his friends are insistently urging him to be, while equally strong pressure is being used to induce him to run for United States senator to succeed James B. Frazier. Inidentally, Mr. Frazier, a candidate to succeed himself, has refused to enter the June primary.

The state-wide faction is well organized and prepared to fight Patterson wherever he lands. But they have not as yet put forward a name to be used in connection with the gubernatorial race. The campaign, when it opens, is expected to be furious.

ROBIN OUT ON BOND.

Nashville, Tenn.—Robin Cooper, whose case was reversed in the supreme court, stands upon his bond of $25,000. Attorney-General McCarra says he will put his case on the May docket of the criminal court of Davidson county.

Break Immigration Record.

New York.—The influx of immigrants at this port, which has been unusually heavy this week, reached such a point Wednesday that it was impossible to handle them all at the Ellis island immigrant station. The steerage passengers on the Caronia, Oceanic and President Lincoln, 4,863 in all, were held on board the vessels, where they will stay until tomorrow before being examined for admission. On the island today are 5,666 aliens. The immigration officers think the week may be almost a record-breaker.

THE RIVER OF LIFE

Say what you will of whatever part of the human anatomy they please, the river of life is BLOOD. It is either the swift running stream of health or the germ-laden channel of disease, one or the other.

The new remedy for the blood is the kind that freshens and quickens the circulation, energizes the good corpuscles that fight the battle of life for the sick. SIMMONS' SARSAPARILLA COMPOUND is unlike any other known medicine. It works differently, it reaches in and through and down till it penetrates to the seat of the disease and springs at the very throat of the cause of it. It's the only remedy that does this. And doing this, it gets results and effects where no other can. Tell your druggist this is the one you want and that you won't have any other, he'll get it for you.

SIMMONS' SARSAPARILLA COMPOUND

STOLE EIGHTY DOLLARS.

It was April 1 and Capt. Reynolds, of the Palace Hotel was feeling fine. On the night of the aforesaid day, one E. H. Rankin arrived in Union City, registered at the Palace from Baltimore and claimed to be traveling for the Central Meat & Supply Co., a concern rated at one hundred thousand. Mr. Rankin was assigned a room. The early morning mail of the next day brought him a letter, which was delivered in the usual way. Said letter contained a check for $80 expense money for Mr. Rankin and was supposed to have been sent by the Maryland wholesale house. It was presented to Capt. Reynolds in payment for his bill. The check was accepted and so was the cash (by Rankin) less the amount of his hotel bill. It appeared to be regular in every way, drawn on the Calvert Bank of Baltimore and was numbered 3201. It was deposited with the Old National Bank, forwarded to the Baltimore Bank, and promptly returned.

"Pure swindle, Rankin unknown. Similar checks issued, and detective department informed ten days ago," is the reply received from the Baltimore wholesale house.

It was a smooth piece of work, and evidently the man had stolen a bunch of the firm's checks, and is now filling them out when in need of the cash.—Union City Commercial.

ELLISON—KILPATRICK.

One of the prettiest weddings ever witnessed in this city was that of Miss Annie Stephens Ellison, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Ellison, to Mr. Lewis Hinkle Kilpatrick, of Memphis, Tenn., at the home of the bride's parents last night at nine o'clock.

The magnificent Ellison home was exquisitely decorated with ferns and clusters of snowballs, the effect of which was especially pleasing and appropriate for both occasion and season. Long before the hour set for the ceremony, the spacious home was filled with guests—possibly the largest assembly ever seen at a home wedding in this city.

At the appointed hour, nine o'clock, the musical strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, charmingly rendered on the piano and violin by Mrs. C. P. Shumate and J. H. Millet, announced the entrance of the bridal party. Preceded by the ushers, Edward Prather and A. E. DeBow, were the ribbon-bearers, little Miss Mary Stone and Master Richard Prather; followed by attendants, Miss Virginia Prather and Guy Hale; Miss Ruth Ellison, maid of honor, and the bride leaning on her father's arm, who were joined at the center of the parlor by the groom and his best man, H. E. Curlin, of Union City. Here they were met by the officiating minister, Rev. Staley, of the Baptist church of Fulton.

The bride was a vision of loveliness in her flowing veil of gossamer lightness, held in place by a spray of orange buds and blossoms. Her gown of white lingerie was extremely elaborate and beautiful. She held in her hand a fragrant bouquet of pink sweet peas, and withal made a picture of gracefulness. The ladies in attendance were handsomely gowned in white; the gentlemen in conventional black.

The solemn service, known as the "ring ceremony," was impressively rendered by Rev. Staley and carried out with striking beauty and dignity. The questions and responses were clearly given and answered, while soft strains of music seemed to float a benediction of peace and harmony over those present. The picture, as sacred as it was lovely, of this gathering and its purpose left an impression that will not be easily forgotten.

After the ceremony and congratulations, punch was served by Miss Helen Tyler.

The newly-weds left on the 10:30 train, amid a storm of rice, for St. Louis where they will spend several days. They will be at home in Memphis after May 1st.

Mr. and Mrs. Kilpatrick were the recipients of an elegant array of wedding gifts, including an abundance of cut glass, silver, china, etc.

The groom is a druggist and one of the leading young business men of Memphis, and a splendid fellow. He will always bless the day that brought him to Hickman a few years ago, serving in an official capacity with the government Levee Board, at which time he met the lady of his choice and which culminated so happily last night.

The bride, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Ellison, a leading business man of Hickman, is certainly a charming little lady. She was born and reared in this city, and is one of our most popular, sensible and refined young women. It is with regret that we learn she will make her home in another city, but the abundant good wishes of the Courier, as well as her innumerable friends, go with her and Mr. Kilpatrick for their future happiness.

RIGHT NOW, while every household is agitated over the high cost of food, isn't it strange that people haven't thought of candies as a food? But nut and fruit candies are finding a place on many tables, as an article of diet, because they furnish protein in cheaper and more wholesome form than high priced foods. Nut and fruit candies have recognized food values, beneficial alike to children and grown-ups. Their more general use as articles of diet is rapidly increasing as their nutritive qualities become better known. $130,000,000 worth of candies are sold yearly in the United States.

Webb and Jere Carter were fined $500 each; Frank K. Conrad, H. L. Conrad and R. Lee Conrad, $300 each, and John Caldwell $100.

Owens, the popular manager of the Cumberland Telephone, Co., of this city.

Mr. Stagg, of the Standard Oil Co., was here this week on business. While here, a Courier man asked him a few questions relative to street oiling. He says it will cost about 2c a square yard to do this work, and that one application should be sufficient for the season. The smallest tank car we could purchase would contain 6,000 gallons, which, at a rough estimate, would be sufficient for oiling all of Clinton street and a half block south on the three streets intersecting Clinton street. He finds that the best time to undertake this work is the latter part of May or the first of June, thus getting the "settled weather" and at the same time the streets are generally in best condition. This specially prepared oil makes the streets hard and positively dustless. Mr. Stagg also says there is no trouble to be experienced as some suppose, by carrying the oil and dirt into the house on one's shoes. This would happen the first and second days, but not after the oil has had time to soak into the soil.

If it is successful, every acre in the Obion river bottom will be worth from $150 to $300. The whole bottom will be cleared in two or three years and great rice mills, built at the expense of hundreds of thousands of dollars, will dot the surface of the rice Obion and Dyer counties and add bottom. Tonic or Stimulant?

WILLIAM C. JOHNSTON.

William C. Johnston, one of the oldest citizens of this community, reached the end of life's journey, Sunday. The end came as a result of a hemorrhage of the brain. While at the home of his son, Al Johnston, he was found Friday sitting in his chair in an unconscious condition. Medical aid was summoned and the old gentleman rallied temporarily but gradually sank again until the end came Sunday.

Previous to the attack Friday, Mr. Johnston seemed to enjoy the best of health for a man of his age—82 years.

He has been a resident of this vicinity since 1886, at which time he moved here from Middle Tennessee. He married Miss Mates Brevard, sister of R. B. Brevard, of this city, and to this union were born four children, all of whom survive him. They are Mrs. P. Isabel, of Woodland Mills and three sons, John, of Oregon, and Allen and Joe, both of this community. He is also survived by his wife and numerous grandchildren. Deceased volunteered his services to the cause of the South in the late war and served with distinction under Morgan until its close. He was a faithful member of the Methodist church, a good, quiet, peaceable citizen, and was held in high esteem by all who knew him.

Funeral services were held at the home Monday morning, concluding with interment at the city cemetery.

The Courier extends sympathy to relatives and friends whose hearts are heavy in the loss of this good man.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has announced a decision holding that it is "unjust and unreasonable" for the Pullman company to charge equally for upper and lower berths in sleeping cars, and has ordered reductions in specific instances, which ruling is recognized as an opening wedge for a general readjustment of sleeping car rates. The rates for a short night's journey are fixed at $1.50 for a lower and $1.10 for an upper berth. The Pullman company will take the decision to the courts. How few of us are really our own boss! The married men are subject to their wives, the bachelors obey their landlady, the old maids cater to their cats and poodles while all of us bow to the weak thing called public opinion. We come into this world without our consent, and leave it against our protest, and while here kick at everything that crosses our path, but all to no purpose. The world wags on, not caring whether we live or die, laugh or cry, shout or sigh, not caring a farthing why, till we turn up our toes and die and then maybe to freeze or fry.

CONFEDERATE RE-UNION.

Hickman will send a fairly good delegation to Mobile to the Re-Union next week, but not as many, however as usually attend on these occasions.
For the benefit of those who expect to attend and have never before been to Mobile, it might be of interest to them to know that this city has two hundred years of romantic history. It was the first seat of government for the vast territory of Louisiana. It was formerly called Fort Charlotte. In its cemetery, awaiting the judgment day, are the earthly remains of Gen. Braxton Bragg, Admiral Raphael Semmes, the beloved Father Ryan, and many other notables of Confederate fame. Near the city, at the Gulf of Mexico entrance to Mobile Bay, is Fort Morgan, where Admirals Buchanan and Farragut fought a great naval battle on August 5, 1864. Near it is Dauphin Island, which was the rendezvous of Pakenham's forces of the remnant of the British army after the battle of New Orleans in 1812. Mobile has been dominated by French, British, Spanish, Confederate and Federal powers and is hence a very historic city, and its citizens take pride in its history. That which concerns many Confederates just now is hotel accommodations. They are magnificent if not ample. One company owns the leading hotels, and in so far as there is capacity, accommodations will be first class.

The Battle House is now on the site of the hotel of the same name in the sixties. The headquarters of Gen. Mickle, U. C. V. will be located in the lobby of this hotel, also the Confederate Veteran and the Jefferson Davis Home Association.
The Cauthon House is about two blocks away. The Bienville Hotel is an annex to the Cauthon. These latter hotels face upon a public square in which, it is understood, a brass band will discourse old-time airs day and night.
The tented area is to be down by the bay where the famous shell road was an attraction until terrific storms destroyed it a few years ago. Several street car lines and different standard railroads will carry passengers from the hotel area. The auditorium, a large tent, is to be located very convenient to tented quarters. It is expected to have "music all the day" and that comrades will lack nothing that can be done for their comfort. The Courier believes every veteran who can do so should attend these meetings. At best, you can only go to a few more—the ranks are thinning fast—too fast, indeed, and in a surprisingly short time, even the pleasant associations of the Re-Union will be a matter of history.

SMITH & AMBERG

The Blind Senator from Oklahoma

BY JAMES CREELMAN

THE visitor to Washington who looks down from the gallery upon the sleepy, green-carpeted senate is sure to be impressed and puzzled, if not actually thrilled, by the presence of a blind man in that droning citadel of federalism; a senator without power to see, the youngest member of the "American house of lords," representing the youngest state in the Union.

If the story of Senator Gore of Oklahoma could serve no other purpose than to illustrate how a brave heart and persistent ambition can overcome even the greatest difficulties in life it would be worth telling.

Loyalty to a set purpose, maintained resolutely through 25 years of bitter struggle, raised this poor blind American boy to a seat in the most distinguished law-making body in the world, although he sometimes lived on the verge of starvation. Nothing could shake his determination to be a senator. He had no eyes, but he had a tongue. He had no money, but he had courage. He was obscure, but he had a high ambition. He could not see the world about him, but he had a smile to win it, a perseverance to compel its admiration and support.

A few months after Mississippi was readmitted to the Union in 1870 Thomas Pryor Gore was born on an 80-acre farm 30 miles from the nearest railway.

Here the boy grew up among the creeks and pines, a stocky, gray-eyed little fellow, who could outrun any of his companions. When he was six years old the village of Walthall was established in the woods nearby and the Gore family went there to live. Young Tom attended a small school set among the trees outside of the village.

At the age of eight years the boy's left eye was blinded by an accidental blow from a stick. Three years later he was employed as a page in the Mississippi senate and boarded at the house of Senator J. Z. George in Jackson. One day, while playing with a crossbow, an arrow entered his right eye and destroyed his sight.

In spite of his affliction young Gore managed to stand at the head of his class in school and at the age of 17 years entered a normal school which was opened. Here he gradually became totally blind, yet he mastered the high school course.

While Gore was attending the high school his closest companion was a classmate, Charles H. Pittman. This youth used to read to him. One day they found an old volume of the Congressional Record. Going out to the stable, the blind student would stand for hours while Pittman read to him the speeches of the lawmakers at Washington.

During that winter Gore and his sister taught school for a few months. All the while his mother, a bedridden invalid, read to him history, biography and other subjects connected with his political plans, and he would sit by the bed, a strange smile on his blind countenance, dreaming and brooding and waiting for the day when he might take part in the great battle of politics like other men.

His great chance came in the spring of 1891.

The Populist movement was spreading rapidly and he joined it. In the state campaign for a legislature to elect a United States senator he took up the cause of Barksdale against George, although as a boy he had lived in George's house.

The blind orator shrank from no conflict. He even debated with Senator Money, whose tongue all Mississippi dreaded and who smiled majestically when told that his opponent was "a poor, blind schoolboy." Senator Money declared that, but for his antagonist's blindness, he would hold him personally responsible for his words—a deadly thing to say in Mississippi. Gore promptly replied, "Let him then blindfold himself and I will meet him."

In September of that year he went to the law school at Cumberland university, Tennessee, and studied law for ten months. He was one of the leading students in a class of 42. This experience cost him $331 and he returned to his Mississippi village with only 25 cents in his pocket. In a suit of clothes he had worn for 14 months. He had almost been compelled to leave the law school months before for the lack of suitable clothing.

Yet his unquenchable ambition to reach the United States senate grew more intense as the difficulties of his situation increased.

Gore's father had taken up the practice of law in Walthall and, on returning from the law school in 1892 the youth was welcomed as an assistant in the office. That year, too, he was a presidential elector on the Populist ticket, attacked Grover Cleveland on the stump and carried his county.

The practice of law was not an inspiring occupation in Walthall. There were actually 45 lawyers in that small, poor village. The blind advocate tried a few cases.

After a two years' effort to earn a living as a lawyer in the place of his birth Gore decided to go to Texas.

Having saved $40, he started in April, 1894, for Texarkana, arriving there an absolute stranger with only $21 in his pocket. He secured a boarding house and promptly offered himself to the Populist leaders for service in the approaching state and county elections. His political speeches brought in money enough to pay his expenses, but he found no chance to practice law. In the winter he went back to Walthall and for a year made another desperate effort to win success as a lawyer. He was nominated for congress by the Populists, but was defeated. Yet his speeches in the campaign attracted much attention.

On the last day of the year 1895 the sightless and unsuccessful lawyer decided to abandon the struggle in his native spot and to go back to Texas. Before leaving Walthall he made a vow that he would never enter the village again until he could return to his neighbors a United States senator.

That year in Texas was a hard one. Gore threw himself into politics with passionate energy. He was a delegate to the Populist convention at St. Louis which nominated Mr. Bryan and seconded the nomination. In December, 1896, he and his brother opened a law office. It was a fierce struggle with the world. His father, mother and brother lived with him. Sometimes they were without a single dollar.

In April, 1899, Gore's fortunes had sunk so low that he appeared in the street with frayed clothing, broken shoes and a visage white with deprivation. One day it seemed as though he had come face to face with actual starvation, when an old negro woman paid $2 which she owed him and that saved the situation.

When Mr. Bryan was nominated, at Kansas City in 1900 Gore found his way to the crowd that surrounded the convention. He was now a Democrat.

It might help him on his way to the senate if he could make speeches in the neighborhood of a national convention.

Hurrying on to South Dakota—he had only $7 left when he got there—Gore went to the state convention and secured an engagement to speak in the state during the presidential campaign. In this way he picked up $1,000. Then he went back to Texas and married a beautiful girl. "It was love at first sight," he said, laughingly.

After the presidential campaign was over Gore's $1,000, earned in the South Dakota tour, soon melted away, and little money came in to take its place. In 1901 things went so badly with him and his senatorial prospects seemed so dim, that when an advertisement of an auction of land lots in the newly opened Kiowa, Comanche and Apache reservation in Oklahoma appeared in the newspapers he decided to leave Texas and pursue his great ambition in the new country.

As a first step the elder Gore, now a white-haired man, went to Oklahoma and became a notary public in the hope of earning fees from the land-crazy crowds. In July, 1901, the blind lawyer and his brother went to the new land, driving 45 miles in a wagon to Fort Sill. Here Gore lived in a tent with his father and brother in the midst of an excited crowd. His father sat inside as a notary, while he, attired in an alpaca coat, colored shirt and slouch hat, walked up and down before the tent, waving his hand and shouting, "Here's where you get your papers out! Here's the right place to get your land papers!" In the daytime he entreated the crowd; at night he slept on the ground.

Failing to draw a land claim, the Gores moved out four miles to Lawton, an encampment on the open prairie. Here 15,000 persons were living in tents where the wild blue-stem grass was waist high. It was a Babylon of gamblers, fakirs, farmers and business men, all waiting for the opening of the land on August 6. There were grocery and hardware stores in tents; gambling tables and shows in tents; churches and saloons in tents. Even newspapers were printed in tents. Poor men, rich men, preachers, thieves were mixed up in that picturesque, dramatic hurly-burly of mules, wagons, women and children. Men were killed, children were born, robberies were committed.

Three days after the lots were sold and while Lawton was still a tented camp, there was another political mass meeting, this time in the big tent of Dick Russell, a saloon keeper. Gore was there and offered a resolution favoring the admission of Oklahoma and Indian territory to the Union as a single state.

A few days later and the men of Lawton organized a citizens' committee to get a charter and organize a city government. Of course Gore was there and of course he was on the committee. Then a commercial club was organized by the tent dwellers and Gore was on the committee to draft by-laws. He missed no opportunity that might lead to the senate.

Presently he bought a small lot for $155 and started to build a cottage through the help of a building and loan agency. When his wife reached Lawton in October Gore was still in his tent. His wife fell sick and for four months he was her only nurse, save when their baby came in January. When they moved into their own cottage and furnished it with a stove and a few articles of furniture they had only $1 left. They had to rent out three of their five rooms.

The baby was born in desperately cold weather in a room heated only by a tiny cook stove. It lived only 17 days and was buried on the prairie.

That winter tried the man in him. For months he and his fair, young wife lived on scanty portions of bread, beans and beef liver, with syrup made of sugar dissolved in water for dessert.

All through this time his wife encouraged his political ambitions.

In April, 1902, Gore managed to go as a delegate to the territorial convention that was to choose a delegate to congress from Oklahoma and his speech in response to the welcome of the mayor of Enid so struck the fancy of the delegates that there was a movement to make him the choice of the convention. He declined the honor in favor of others. It was a shrewd move and counter-balanced the fact that he was a newcomer in Oklahoma. The result was that he was elected to the territorial senate.

The fight for a seat in the United States senate was now pressed systematically. Having introduced a child labor bill in the legislature and declared his friendship for organized labor, Gore spent the year 1903 in widening his acquaintance, attending picnics, barbecues and county fairs, lecturing for anything from $5 to $25, shaking hands with the crowds and smiling his way into their hearts.

Then came the presidential campaign of 1904 and Gore got $4 or $5 a day from the Democrats for speaking in Indiana, Ohio and Illinois. He had no desire to go back to the territorial legislature, knowing that his great ambition could be better served by the publicity of service in the national campaign.

Gore fought hard for Oklahoma's admission to the Union. No man was more active in the agitation. But he would not go to the national capital.

"I won't go to Washington till I go with the right to speak and vote in the senate," he said.

The statehood bill was passed by congress in 1906. Then the political air of Oklahoma was "full of razors" as the struggle for the two new senatorships began with the primary campaign to elect a legislature. Gore's opponents were both rich men, who spent their money freely. He stayed in Guthrie, borrowing money to pay the $450 a week which it cost him to live. Being at the capital, he met men from all over the state and was able to make shrewd combinations.

It was a tragic thing to see a blind man harassed by poverty fighting against his rich rivals, one a banker and the other a lawyer, but, however he bled inwardly, Gore gave no sign that he saw anything pathetic in his situation. His friends wanted him to abandon his ambition for a time and run for congress.

"It is the senate or nothing," he replied.

In April, 1907, he began to make speeches all over the state.

He spoke on street corners, from the tops of boxes, from cart tails, anywhere, everywhere, night and day. The leading newspapers ignored him, while his rivals were able to buy advertising space and one of them hired brass bands, opera houses and advance agents. In March he had mortgaged his house for $1,000, but the money was soon gone. To get his name on the primary ballot, under the rules of the Democratic state convention, he had to pay $375. But on the last day allowed for the payment he found himself with only $8. In sheer desperation he made out his check for $375 and paid it in. A Mr. Young saved him by raising the money to meet the check.

As the voting drew near the blind candidate's circumstances became more desperate than ever. He was spending about $24 a week for traveling expenses. To get out of money at that stage of the fight would have been fatal. He made from two to four speeches a day, although he would sit up all night in hotels to save paying for a bed, and ate only one meal a day. At times he would go from one day to another on cheese and crackers carried in his grip sack. So great was the physical ordeal that he lost 39 pounds weight.

Gore won his fight in the primary election and was elected to the United States senate by the legislature, drawing the short term. The struggle cost him $1,100, exclusive of the $375 he paid to get his name on the primary ballot. One of his opponents is said to have spent $75,000.

It was a grand day for Oklahoma when her blind man got into the United States senate.

In 1908 he went home and was re-elected. When he reached Lawton a cheering crowd surrounded the carriage and took him and his wife to their cottage. As roar after roar broke on the air he turned to his wife and whispered, "They don't seem to know that it's only me."

NATIONAL CAPITAL AFFAIRS

Uncle Joe As an Agent of Dan Cupid

WASHINGTON.—On L. White Busbey's desk in the speaker's room of the national house representatives reposes a packet of letters indorsed "Cupid." It is the filing cabinet of the "Uncle Joe Matrimonial Bureau," established by the speaker and not incorporated. Every letter adds to the speaker's list of men and women, young and old, from every quarter of the land, who are suffering from the pangs of love. Some of them are rich, some are poor, and others want to make themselves happy. Some of the writers are "choosy," as to the sort of person they want and others will accept almost any old thing that is offered to them or even amble in double harness.

Honor for Owey the Postoffice Dog

Owey is about to come into his own. "Owey" was a dog, but he is a dead dog. His remains will be on exhibit at the Ohio Valley exposition, to be held at Cincinnati next autumn. Postmaster General Hitchcock has arranged to send a postal exhibit to the show. The chief clerk of the department has notified the exposition management that he has secured the leading features of the exhibit, which will be forwarded in time for the opening. "Owey" will get the place of honor. The dog's story makes up. Almost 24 years ago the little terrier was found curled up on top of some mail bags in the postoffice at Albany. He had no refuge from the cold. The mail men adopted him. They at length named him "Owey" because of the question: "Who is your dog?" One day he followed the mail wagon to the station and boarded a car while the mail was being loaded. He was unobserved till after the train had started. Then the clerks sent him back to Albany. After that he made frequent trips. The employees of the office tagged him "Owey, Albany Postoffice, Albany, N. Y." They requested other mail clerks to affix tags to him on his trips showing where he had been. He soon became so extensive a traveler, however, that he couldn't carry his tags. While he was once passing through Washington the postmaster general gave him a set of harness. From this the tags were then suspended. He traveled from place to place, always following the mail. In addition to covering the United States and Canada, he visited Europe and Asia. The mikado of Japan presented him with a silver medal upon which was engraved the national coat of arms.

Thought Friend Poor, Found Him Rich

"He's too proud," said the husband. "I remember that pride of his. It's almost an affliction." "What are you going to do?" "I thought I'd send him a check." "Do you suppose," the wife scornfully asked, "that he would have a check cashed, if he is as proud as you say?" "Well, I'll send him the money then." Next day he went to his bank and drew out a hundred dollars in one bill. This he put into an envelope and sent to the address of his friend, writing street and number correctly. He told the messenger not to say where the letter had come from. This answer came in the morning's mail: "Dear Bill—Well, you've decided to pay that old poker debt after all these years, have you? Much obliged. I'm going to have that bill framed and hang it on the wall when I get home." The recipient of the letter slowly tore it to bits. His mind went back to the days of that crazy youth that his friend referred to. He remembered the hundred now; he was astonished that it wasn't more. "I suppose Mary will ask me if I've heard," he mused. "I guess I'll say he was too proud to answer, but he needed the money so badly he kept it."

Ground Hog Rank Faker, Says Moore

WILLIS L. MOORE, chief of the weather bureau, is the victim of a professional "grouch." He has become a laughing stock at the ground hog as a business rival. He believes his competitor could be let in for a share of criticism and not all of it thrown at his feet. "You never pick up a paper," said Mr. Moore, "that you don't see some criticism of the weather bureau. It gets roasted if the weather is hot, it gets roasted if the weather is cold, and when it rains the abuse heaped on us is terrific. No matter what we do it is wrong. We miss the time of the coming rain by half an hour we are derided as grossly incompetent. People make speeches and say the weather bureau is spending too much money. Then somebody writes a long magazine article about us. They say we never have been right for two days in a stretch since the bureau was established."

"Naturally, being director of the bureau, I have to bear the brunt of this criticism. That is as it should be. Moreover, I am used to it. But while the abuse is going around, why not be impartial with it? What about that great weather prophet—the ground hog?"

"What about ground hogs? I ask you, is he not the greatest faker, the greatest fourflusher, the greatest buncombe artist that ever pretended to look at a cloud and tell you what was in it?"

"What did he do this year? Did he make good? Not a bit of it. He was as far off as we were about the probable weather conditions for March 4, 1910."

"He crawled out of his hole on February 2, saw his shadow, got his picture in every paper in the country, and then beat it back to his lair, leaving behind him the idea that the remainder of February and all of March would be marked by bad weather."

"Was it a reliable forecast? I should say not. We have had the mildest and most beautiful March in years. Yet the ground hog gets off without a single roast. And next year people will be just as eager to believe in his judgment."

A Minister's Indigestion

Rev. Fletcher of Tennessee Suggests a Remedy Based on Personal Experience—You Can Get It Free.

There is nothing that is so much sought after as a remedy for stomach trouble, and hence you will be interested to know how the Rev. A. J. Fletcher of Rutherford, Tenn., whose picture we present herewith, cured his indigestion. To use his own words, he says, in part:

"I received the sample bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin that I asked you to send me, and I made no mistake in ordering it. I have been troubled with dyspepsia and indigestion more or less for about sixty years, and have taken many remedies, but Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has done me more good than anything else. I am 78."

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has been sold in drug stores for twenty years. The price is only 50 cents or $1 a bottle. It is especially adapted to the uses of babies, children, women and old folks. Its purity is vouched to the Government, and results from its use are guaranteed. If you have never tried it send name and address for a free trial bottle, which will be cheerfully sent to your home prepaid. If there is any medical advice that you want, or anything about your condition that you don't understand, write the doctor. Address your letter, Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 201 Caldwell Bldg., Monticello, Ill.

NOT VERY REASSURING.

"The doctor throws lots of work in his brother's way." "Is his brother a doctor, too?" "No. He's an undertaker."

WASTED A FORTUNE ON SKIN TROUBLE

"I began to have an itching over my whole body about seven years ago and this settled in my limb, from the knee to the toes. I went to see a great many physicians, a matter which cost me a fortune, and after I noticed that I did not get any relief that way, I went for three years to the hospital. But they were unable to help me there. I used all the medicines that I could see but became worse and worse. I had an inflammation which made me almost crazy with pain. When I showed my foot to my friends they would get really frightened. I did not know what to do. I was so sick and had become so nervous that I positively lost all hope."

"I had seen the advertisement of the Cuticura Remedies a great many times, but could not make up my mind to buy them, for I had already used so many medicines. Finally I did decide to use the Cuticura Remedies and I tell you that I was never so pleased as when I noticed that, after having used two sets of Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Pills, the entire inflammation had gone. I was completely cured. I should be only too glad if people with similar disease would come to me and find out the truth. I would only recommend them to use Cuticura. Mrs. Bertha Sachs, 1621 Second Ave., New York, N. Y., Aug. 20, 1909."

"Mrs. Bertha Sachs is my sister-in-law and I know well how she suffered and was cured by Cuticura Remedies after many other treatments failed. Morris Sachs, 321 E. 89th St., New York, N. Y., Secretary of Deutsch-Ostrower Unt-Verein, Kemper Hebrew Benevolent Society, etc."

Used to It.

Recently a lady witness in a court up the state was subjected to a troublesome fire of cross questions, and the lawyer, thinking that some apology was necessary, tried to square himself.

"I really hope, madam," said he, "that I don't annoy you with all these questions." "Oh, no," was the prompt reply; "I am accustomed to it." "You don't mean it?" wonderingly returned the lawyer.

"Yes," rejoined the lady, "I have a six-year-old boy at home."

The Vested Interests.

Britain's Rulers.

Mr. Lloyd George is pleasantly proud of his nationality, but it is amazing that he had to go back to Queen Elizabeth and the Tudors to find his historical precedence for a Welsh government of Great Britain. On the other hand, England has often been ruled by Scotsmen. Of the last three premiers, two—Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman and Mr. Balfour—were Scotch. Mr. Gladstone sat for a Scotch constituency, and so does Mr. Asquith. Ireland has always been busy supplying us with governing men. The duke of Wellington, Lord Roberts, Lord Charles Bessborough, Lord Russell and a dozen others immediately occur to one. It is odd to remember that it is centuries since Great Britain had a purely English sovereign. The Tudors were Welsh. The Stuarts were Scotch, William III. was a Dutchman and the Guelphs are of German descent.—London Chronicle.

The Dog Settled It.

The multimillionaire was uncertain. "But how do I know you can support my daughter in the manner to which she has been accustomed?" he demanded, dubiously.

The imported nobleman smiled blandly.

"I will go ze test," he volunteered. "What test?"

"I will lif with you one year and see how she is accustomed and zen I will know what to say."

But just then James the footman, liberated the $5,000 bulldog.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 15 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Andrew Carnegie, apropos of his epigram about the disgrace of dying rich, said at a dinner in Washington: "Why should any one die rich? There are no pockets in a shroud, and as for the man who'd like to take his money with him, why, even if he managed to do so, it would only melt."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL.

For over 40 years this celebrated remedy has been making women's lives happier—healthier—safer. Many thousands of women have testified to its wonderful effect.

The "Favorite Prescription" is

THE ONE REMEDY that can be depended upon when there is any derangement of the distinctly feminine organism. It purifies, heals, soothes, builds up.

THE ONE REMEDY which absolutely contains neither alcohol (which to most women is rank poison) nor injurious or habit-forming drugs.

THE ONE REMEDY which is so perfect in its composition and so good in its curative effects as to warrant its makers in printing its every ingredient, as they do, on its outside wrapper, verifying the same under solemn oath.

It is needed when backaches make life miserable—when a sickening, dragging, bearing-down feeling makes work a weary agony—when sick headache, nervous irritability, loss of energy and appetite indicate derangement of the womanly organism. It is a purely vegetable compound, being a glyceric extract from native medicinal roots and can not injure in any condition of the female system.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets help the effect of all other medicines by keeping the liver active and the bowels open. They regulate and strengthen Stomach, Liver and Bowels. Easy to take as candy. At all dealers—get what you ask for.

Hopeless.

"Your store is no good, sir! I asked for lace curtains last week, and I couldn't get 'em."

"Indeed?"

"Yes. And I asked for silk socks yesterday, and I couldn't get 'em."

"That's strange."

"And to-day I asked for credit, and can't even get that. Is this a regular store, or what?"

His Face Was Turning Yellow.

Someone told him that sallowness was caused by an inactive liver. He began taking NATURE'S REMEDY, his natural color returned, his brain cleared. His liver was again active. NR tablets never fail to correct the liver, they remove the bile, aid digestion and tone the system. Better than Pills for Liver Bile. Take one tonight and you'll feel better in the morning. We have never yet seen a fussy, slavish, hardworking mother who was not repaid for all her toil and care and anxiety by a set of as selfish children as ever lived. A mother who really has the good of her children at heart, will teach them as soon as they can walk not only to help themselves, but to help others. She will not bring them up under the impression that they are unfledged angels, but dear, wilful, little mortals who must learn they came to serve and not to rule. Self sacrifice is a good quality in a mother, but it is possible to carry that spirit too far; it is possible to make sacrifices which are not only uncalled for and not necessary, but really harmful in their effects.

The Living Room.

The living room is one room in the house which, above all others, should be bright and cheerful. If any room must be neglected, let it not be the living room. Have here refined pictures, plenty of books and current literature. This is the place for the piano, the most comfortable chairs and cozy corners. Within the precincts of such a room one may shut out the world and forget that there are any troubles to bear. The character of a room depends upon its wall decoration, its carpets, its pictures and its curtains. We should be careful to have these of the right kind as all others are mere accessories. "We could not afford expensive things," said a newly married couple, "so we chose the comfortable ones," and this idea "comfort" is the secret of all room furnishing.

Gates Ajar.

The touching pathos of childhood is shown in the following: The death of a well-known gentleman had called forth many expressions of sympathy from friends in the way of a profusion of flowers in beautiful designs. After they had been placed around him as he lay in the casket, his little daughter Alice of four years, was led by her mamma into the room to look upon the face of her dead papa. She was naturally attracted by the flowers and by the design of the "Gates Ajar." Her mamma told her that "the beautiful gate" had opened and her papa had passed through and would never come back to them again. The child looked steadily at her papa's face for a few moments, then climbed up so she could reach over and kiss his cold lips saying: "Papa, dear, speak to me and say you will come to 'the beautiful gate' and meet your little Alice there some day."

The Gain of Sunday Rest.

Of course we do not mean that a man will not produce more in a week by working seven days than by working six days. But it is very doubtful whether, at the end of the year he will generally produce more by working seven days in the week. The natural difference between Campania and Spitzbergen is trifling when compared with the difference between a country inhabited by men full of bodily and mental vigor and a country inhabited by men sunk in bodily and mental decrepitude. Therefore it is that we are not poorer but richer, because we have through many ages rested from our labors one day in seven. The day is not lost. While industry is suspended, while the plow lies in the furrow, while the exchange is silent, while no smoke ascends at the factory, a process is going on quite as important to the wealth of the nation as is the work which is performed on more busy days. Man—the machine of machine—the machine compared with which all the contrivances of the Watts and Arkwrights are worthless—is repairing and winding up, so that he returns to his labors on Monday with clearer intellect and livelier spirits, with renewed corporal vigor.

Girls Who Make Poor Wives.

We never see a petted, pampered girl who is yielded to in every whim by servants and parents that we do not sigh with pity for the man who will some day be her husband. We see them in Hickman every day, also the opposite thing in men's clothes. But it is the worshipped daughter who has been taught that her whims and wishes are supreme in a household who makes marriage a failure all her life. She has had her way in things great and small, and when she desired dresses, pleasures or journeys which were beyond the family purse, she carried the day with her tears or sulks, or posing as martyr. The parents sacrificed for her sake, hoping finally to see her married well. They

AFTER SUFFERING FOR YEARS

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Park Rapids, Minn.—"I was sick for years while passing through the Change of Life and was hardly able to be around. After taking six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I gained 20 pounds, am now able to do my own work and feel well."—Mrs. Ed. LA DOU, Park Rapids, Minn.

Brookville, Ohio.—"I was irregular and extremely nervous. A neighbor recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to me and I have become regular and my nerves are much better."—Mrs. R. KINNISON, Brookville, Ohio.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record for the largest number of actual cures for female diseases we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., from women who have been cured from almost every form of female complaints, inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration. Every suffering woman owes it to herself to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

If you want special advice write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for it. It is free and always helpful.

carefully hide her faults from her suitors who seek her hand and she is ever ready with smiles and allurements to win the hearts of men, and the average man is as blind to the faults of a pretty girl as a newly hatched bird is blind to the worms upon the trees about him. He thinks her little pettish ways are mere girlish moods; but when she becomes his wife and reveals her selfish and cruel nature he is grieved and hurt to think fate has been so unkind to him.

Aimless Girls.

Poor, indescribably poor, is that girl who has gifts, a clear mind and active hands, and who has not been taught how to use them, wandering aimlessly through life, mediocre in everything, without definite aim, seeking vainly for occupations to amuse or distract, deforming her body to gratify ignorant vanity, injuring herself by late hours and bad food, sparkling dimly in the struggle for a husband of wealth, and then as a wife realizing her weakness and lack of worth as a mother, weeping bitter, stinging tears as she sees the results of her miserable life magnified in her children, and walling piteously to help and strength when it is too late. No sarcasm this; this scientific man turns to his work with a heavy heart after studying such a case. But object teaching is nature's teaching, and many repetitions are necessary before people will take the lesson and its full meaning to heart.

Back

An aching back is instantly relieved by an application of Sloan's Liniment. This liniment takes the place of massage and is better than sticky plasters. It penetrates—without rubbing—through the skin and muscular tissue right to the bone, quickens the blood, relieves congestion, and gives permanent as well as temporary relief.

Here's the Proof.
Mr. JAMES C. LEE, of 1100 9th St., N.E., Washington, D.C., writes: "Thirty years ago I fell from a scaffold and seriously injured my back. I suffered terribly at times; from the small of my back had been beaten with a club. I used Sloan's Liniment took the pain right out, and I can now do as much harder work as any man in the shop, thanks to Sloan's Liniment."

Sloan's Liniment

Mr. J. P. EVANS, of Mt. Airy, Ga., says: "After being afflicted for three years with rheumatism, I used Sloan's Liniment, and was cured sound and well, and am glad to say I haven't been troubled with rheumatism since. My leg was badly swollen from my hip to my knee. One-half a bottle took the pain and swelling out."

Sloan's Liniment has no equal as a remedy for Rheumatism, Neuralgia or any pain or stiffness in the muscles or joints. Prices, 25c., 50c. and $1.00.

Sloan's back on horses, cattle, sheep and poultry cost free. Address Dr. Earl S. Sloan, Boston, Mass., U.S.A.

HIDDEN DANGERS.

Nature Gives Timely Warnings That No Hickman Citizen can Afford to Think of Ignoring.

DANGER SIGNAL NO. 1.—comes from the kidney secretions. They will warn you when the kidneys are sick. Well kidneys excrete a clear, amber fluid. Sick kidneys send out a thin, pale and foamy, or a thick, red, ill-smelling urine, full of sediment and irregular of passage.

DANGER SIGNAL NO. 2.—comes from the back. Back pains, dull and heavy, or sharp and acute, tell you of sick kidneys and warn you of the approach of dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and cure them permanently. Here's Hickman proof:

Clay Puckett, of Hickman, says: "I am using Doan's Kidney Pills at the present time and find them to be an excellent remedy. My kidneys bothered me off and on for over a year. At times I suffered from sharp twinges through my back, and it hurt me severely to stoop. The passages of the kidney secretions were also irregular, causing me considerable annoyance. Some time ago I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills and decided to give them a trial. I procured a supply at Helm & Ellison's drug store. I am now using the second box and am delighted with the results. My general health has been greatly improved and I am glad to give Doan's Kidney Pills my endorsement."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.
